Telephone Installers Okay New Contract

Union Orders Members to Go Back to Work

Workers to Receive
Pay Increases of 6
To 12 Cents Per Hour

NEW YORK (AP)—The nationwide four-day strike of 23,000 telephone exchange equipment installers ended today with agreement on a new contract, and their union ordered an immediate return to work.

Negotiators for the Western Electric Co. and the Communications Workers of America settled on pay increases ranging from 6 to 12 cents an hour plus other benefits.

The 6-to-12 cent boost had been offered by the Western Electric in recent negotiation sessions but had been rejected by the union until today.

Both sides expressed satisfaction with the settlement, reached after months of negotiations.

Alfred C. Billote, chief negotiator for Western Electric, manufacturing arm of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., said: "We're very pleased this is over and that the agreement is eminently fair to both sides."

Joseph Dunne, national director of the CWA's installation unit, said increases and other benefits give the installers an hourly package of 13.2 cents. He described this as the highest settlement in the Bell Telephone System this year.

Dunne said return-to-work messages were being sent to installers across the nation.

The AT&T has said it maintained normal long-distance service throughout the country despite the fact that many thousands of operators and other employees honored the CWA's picket lines.

Supervisory personnel handled a large part of the work load.

Most local telephone service was virtually unaffected because of automatic dialing equipment.

The agreement is subject to ratification by union members.

Ohio Bell Strike Continues

A separate statewide strike against the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. continued today.

The installers strike was in 44 states and the District of Columbia, unaffected were Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Montana, where local telephone companies maintain their own equipment.

The new terms become effective today, if ratified.

The agreement provides for a two-year contract. In addition to the 6-to-12 cent hourly increase, the pact provides that the 10 per cent of the installer who had never been given a merit increase will receive an additional 2 cents an hour next Jan. 1.

Expected to Unleash Bitter Assault

Gromyko to Answer Charges by Dulles

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Andrei Gromyko moves under the U.N. spotlight today to parry U.S. charges that Russia is risking world war and blocking disarmament efforts.

The blunt Soviet foreign minister was expected to unleash a bitter assault on the United States when he takes the floor to spell out his government's foreign policy position.

He took copious notes Thursday while Secretary of State Dulles was leveling his charges against the U.S.S.R.

Dulles called on the United Nations to intervene in the Middle East, saying Soviet arms in Syria raised military dangers. On disarmament, Dulles said U.S. nuclear tests will continue until Russia agrees to a disarmament plan what will prevent surprise attacks.

Informed sources said Thursday night the British government is convinced Syria is so completely under Russian domination that it may be too late to save the Arab state.

The informants said the British feel Egypt is not quite so far gone, but that it also is in Russia's grip.

Britain welcomed Dulles' warnings to the Assembly, these sources said, as a step toward sealing off Soviet-dominated areas and preventing their spread.

Russia sustained an expected defeat Thursday when the U. N.'s powerful Steering Committee turned down a Soviet-backed Indian request for General Assembly debate on seating Red China.

The committee voted instead for a U.S. recommendation that the Assembly sidetrack the issue until the 1958 session.

The recommendation will be submitted to the Assembly today.

U.S. Government Goes to Court Against Faubus

Is Landmark Case
In Great Struggle
Over Civil Rights

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The U.S. government goes to court today in the first test of authority with a state government over the motion-torn issue of integrating the public schools.

It is a landmark case in the whole great struggle over civil rights.

In one sense, it is the federal government versus Gov. Orval E. Faubus who, on the night of Sept. 2, sent National Guardsmen to Central High School in Little Rock, with instructions to turn away Negroes who tried to enroll.

But in a broader sense, the issue involves a story as old as the Republic itself — the line of demarcation between federal and state authority.

The issue is clear and simple. Did Faubus make illegal use of the National Guard? Did he violate the constitutional rights of the students?

Or did his mandate to maintain peace and order in the state give him the right to use the guardsmen on such a mission?

Lawsuit Is Over U.S. Petition

Technically, the lawsuit is over the government's petition for injunctions against Faubus, ordering him to stop interfering with the integration of the high school.

Before arguments begin on that, however, U.S. District Judge Ronald N. Davies must deal with a demand by Faubus' attorneys that he disqualify himself to sit in the case.

They said, in an affidavit filed Thursday that he is "biased and prejudiced" against Faubus and "unable to conduct a fair and impartial trial and render a decision either in law or fact that would be free of prejudice."

Then comes the core of the case, the question: Was there genuine danger that violence would break out if the Negroes — 10 students who had been screened and otherwise tested by the Little Rock Board of Education — enrolled in the high school and sat down in classrooms beside the white students?

Faubus insists that he received warnings, with detailed information, that there was such a danger.

400 Page Report Prepared

The government, using FBI agents, is reported to have checked the points of this same information, and to have gathered other evidence. A 400-page FBI report is ready for use in court.

Faubus defied a subpoena Thursday in another civil rights case. He sent the court a message saying: "Almost from the very beginning of our Republic, it has been uniformly held that the chief executive is not compelled to comply with a subpoena unless he chooses to do so."

"In this particular case, be-

Lawyer Seeks to Halt Hoffa's Election as Union President

Prosecutor Sends Reply To Democrats

County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said today he would be glad to summon before the grand jury any persons knowing of fund shortages in county offices or subpoena any witnesses they suggest.

The prosecutor, in a statement today, said he had turned over to the grand jury a letter received Wednesday from the Columbiana Committee.

The letter, signed by Don R. Gosney of Columbiana, chairman of the County Democratic Committee, called attention to "certain shortages in our county offices" and requested that they be presented to the grand jury.

The letter made no specific charges, but Gosney said the shortages are a matter of record at the Courthouse.

Brokaw's reply today stated: "I received the letter from the chairman of the Democratic committee, concerning shortages in the county Courthouse. The letter is very indefinite and makes no specific charges or accusations. However, I am presenting the letter to the grand jury, which is now in session, for whatever action they see fit to take."

I am perfectly willing to present any evidence which any citizen of this county has concerning the commission of a crime in this county and am not interested in covering up anything which may have happened in the past or which might happen in the future.

If Mr. Gosney or any other member of the Columbiana County Democratic Central Committee has any evidence which they wish presented to the Grand Jury, or if any person knows of any shortages in the Courthouse, I will be glad to have them appear personally before the Grand Jury or I will subpoena any witnesses which they suggest.

Attorney Files Suit on Behalf of 13 Union Members

WASHINGTON (AP)—An attorney who stalled off James R. Hoffa's attempt two years ago to swing a New York City Teamsters election sought today to block Hoffa's drive to become the union's national president.

The lawyer, Godfrey Schmidt, planned to seek an immediate restraining order in Federal District Court to block election of new officers at the Teamsters international convention opening Sept. 30 in Miami Beach, Fla.

On behalf of 13 union members from the New York City area, Schmidt filed suit Thursday contending that 80 per cent of the nearly 2,000 delegates to the convention were hand-picked to vote for Hoffa. The way they were chosen, the suit alleged, violates the union's constitution.

Seeks To Delay Election

Schmidt told a reporter he wants a court restraining order to delay the union election until new

30 China Co. Employees Back on Jobs

Employees of the decal section of the decorating department of the Salem China Co. returned to their jobs today following a four-day work stoppage. J. Harrison Keller, president of the firm, reported today.

Keller explained that the workers returned to work with no change in wage rates. The dispute was centered over a new pattern and its wage scale.

A meeting between the U.S. Potters Association and the Local 42 Brotherhood will be held Monday in East Liverpool at which time an "industry court" will establish the new wage rate, Keller said.

He added that future work on the pattern would be determined by the court also.

About 30 employees of the department staged a slowdown strike Monday after management decreased the size of a pattern print on dinnerware, cutting the piecework pay scale, union officials set. The em-

State Awards Contract For Resurfacing

Mill, Newgarden St.
Work to Be Followed
By State St. Paving

Work will begin Sept. 30 on the resurfacing of Mill, Newgarden and State Streets, Service Director James F. Feiler said today.

The City Tar and Asphalt Paving Co. of Youngstown has been awarded the contract by the State Highway Department on a low bid of $26,062. The state estimate was $27,310.

All the streets are to be resurfaced with an inch and one-quarter thickness of asphaltic concrete. The company is expected to pour some 400 tons of concrete a day.

Mill St. will be first to be resurfaced. It will be paved between Newgarden St. the full width of 32 feet.

Newgarden St. will be next for a new surface, the work to extend from the south corporation limits to Mill St. for a width of 20 feet, 10 from the centerline, plus a two foot wedge course on each side.

The third phase calls for the resurfacing of E. State St. The street will be given a new 44-foot wide paving from Lincoln Ave. east to the alley beside the American Legion home.

It will be paved for a width of 34 feet from the alley to Vine St. Eastward from Vine to the city limits, the street will be resurfaced a width of 20 feet, 10 each side of the centerline plus a two-foot wedge course on each side.

Finally W. State St. will be resurfaced a full width of 32 feet from Ellsworth Ave. to Howard St. from Howard St. west to the city limits, the street will be resurfaced for a width of 24 feet.

Reason of Variance

The difference in the width of the resurfacing is because the state will not share the expenses where parking is permitted by the city.

Downtown State St. between Ellsworth and Lincoln will not be affected, having been paved with concrete three years ago.

The city's share of the cost for the resurfacing will be only $5,500, since the state has agreed to pay for half of the cost, or $13,062 while the Columbiana County commissioners will contribute $7,500 of the expense.

Feiler said the completion date for the work is Oct. 20.

Apple Growers Visit Plant; Tour Orchards

COLUMBIANA — After a tour of six area apple orchards yesterday afternoon, Columbiana and Mahoning county growers saw the apple grading and packing plant in the former Farm Bureau building here turn out a rush order of about 250 bushels of apples for Dayton.

Plant manager Henry Ross told the growers the grading and packing equipment installed is approaching full efficiency in operation. About 30 persons are employed in the plant. He answered questions concerning costs and methods.

About 100 growers and several buyers heard Wesley Windisch, chief of the bureau of markets of the Ohio Agricultural Department, who spoke on "How To Meet U.S. Grades," and Vernon Patterson, manager of the Fruit Growers Marketing Association of Worthington, O., whose topic was "Selling Apples Effectively."

The advantageous nearness of growers in this area to good markets was dwelt upon. Preceding the evening meeting at 6 and the dinner at Valley Golf Club at 6:30, the growers visited the orchards of Raymond Knopp, near Greenford; J. A. Stouffer & Sons, east of Washingtonville; Raymond Yeager near Perry Grange Hall, southeast of Salem; Ralph Papania & Sons, east of East Fairfield; Albert Schmidt, northeast of New Waterford; and Marlin Grossen, north of New Waterford.

Junior Chamber To Push Traffic Safety In Public Schools

A doll traffic safety program is being sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the National Junior Chamber of Commerce project.

The project, which will be an experimental program this year, is being tried out at McKinley and St. Paul's grade schools. Each first and second grader in these schools will receive a folder containing eight cartoons with captions, which will be colored by the students. Captions such as "Always Wait for the Red Light" and "Always Wait for the Railroad Signal" are a few that the students receive in their safety kits.

If the Jaycees find that this year's experience is successful they plan to continue the project next year, which would include all first and second graders in Salem public schools.

Chairman is James Harp of Woodland Ave.

Students To See Road Demonstration

A test demonstration designed to disprove the notion that a car can be stopped on a dime will be witnessed by High School students beginning at 10:45 a.m. Monday.

The demonstration, which will be held on E. 3rd St. between Vine Ave. and N. Lincoln Ave., will be in charge of George Tewksbury, safety engineer for Nationwide Insurance.

Two students, a faculty member and a policeman will take turns at the wheel of a car equipped with three revolvers on the front bumper. The drivers will bring the car to emergency stops while traveling 20, 30 or 40 miles an hour.

The revolvers will fire to mark the pavement when the driver (1) sees the stop signal, (2) slams on the brakes, and (3) brings the car to a dead stop. The car is equipped so distances can be measured accurately.

The students will see in a film in the school auditorium on traffic safety prior to the demonstration.

Hear Trash Fire Complaints; Discuss Laying New Sidewalks

LEETONIA — Leetonia Village Council met Wednesday evening in the village hall with Mayor Paul Sevenich presiding.

Village clerk Mike Burick read the minutes of the last session and the financial report of the village which was accepted by Council.

Complaints were heard from several residents on the south side of the village of trash being burned while wash was hanging on clothes lines.

Council is considering passing an ordinance prohibiting the burning of trash and other refuse inside the village limits during the day time hours.

Home owners on Walnut St. are requested to lay sidewalks on both side of Walnut St. from Wood St. to the corporation line. If for any reason home owners do not cooperate, council action will be taken. The added cost of legal and engineering fees will be an added to the 50 cents per square foot for the sidewalk for property owners.

Council members are requesting this as a safety precaution for school children who will be using Walnut St. for going to the Orchard Hill School.

APPROXIMATELY 300 PEOPLE enjoyed open house at the new South Side Elementary School Sunday. Superintendent of School Paul Hayes and the Elementary Supervisor Lee McMurrin were on hand to answer questions for any of the visitors.

The Orchard Hill and Washingtonville buildings are scheduled for completion in the latter part of December. All of the masonry work will be completed in these buildings within the next three weeks. The music room at the high school is now being used, although there is still work to be done. It is hoped that all the buildings will be finished and equipped no later than Jan. 6, 1958.

The Russell Company

The F. C. Russell Company's announcement that it will move its administrative offices from Cleveland to its Number 2 plant in Columbiana is good news for Salem as well as neighboring Columbiana.

The move and planned enlargement of the Rusco storm window and door manufacturing plant will bring some 100 new people into this district.

Frank C. Russell, company president, points out that the move to Columbiana coincides with the start of the biggest growth period in the firm's history. An expanded sales and distribution force is planned and new products are on the drawing boards.

Salem joins her friendly neighbors in Columbiana in welcoming the Russell staff to one of the most strategic industrial areas in the state. The opportunities here are unlimited.

Camp Merrydale

The Salem Girl Scout Council has concluded one of its most successful seasons at Camp Merrydale.

The camp, in a natural setting on the Seacrest Road northwest of the city, was improved with additional facilities this past summer through the efforts of an energetic staff of adult leaders and others of the community who are interested in the Girl Scouting movement.

A new shower house was constructed, a pavilion erected and other facilities enlarged. So many helped that it is hard to single out any one individual or group for praise.

With such leadership it's no wonder that the Salem Girl Scout organization is one of the biggest and most active in this section of the state.

The Coffee Break

While the experts are debating whether America's economy will brew along at the regular rate, perk up or turn into a slow drip, the biggest coffee break the consumer has had in many months came last week in the form of a price reduction of two to six cents a pound.

This is the third round of price cuts this year by the coffee industry and is expected to bring the cost down to 93 cents to the housewife. However there is little cheer for the consumer in other commodities. There the indication is that higher prices will offset, many times over, the saving in coffee.

While experts are not in agreement in the outlook, few, if any, see a reduction in the cost of living; some do hold that there will be an easing of pressure for rises but others predict that the trend will continue up, up, up. Among the latter is Columnist Sylvia Porter who believes the best we can hope for in the remaining months of 1957 is that the price rise will level off and we will get temporary relief from the spiral. She emphasizes the word temporary.

In the opinion of this economic expert, the pressures hidden in the hikes in freight rates and steel prices will emerge in food, goods and services.

The most hopeful outlook, from the consumers' standpoint, was voiced last week by John D. Wilson, vice president of the Chase Manhattan Bank in New York. In an address at the annual meeting of the American Statistical Society in Atlantic City, Wilson, who is in charge of the bank's economic research and publications section, said the current cycle of rising prices may have passed its peak and the economy may be headed toward a more general adjustment in 1958 than it has experienced since 1953-54.

When the government releases the cost of living report this week, August is expected to show a half per cent rise over July and send the price index to 121, an all-time high and the 14th consecutive monthly upward swing.

Whatever next year holds, Wilson said it promises to be one of the most interesting and one of the most hazardous.

Perhaps a good five-cent cup of coffee will be too much to expect.

New Styles?

The Kremlin has taken notice of the fact that the clothes most Russians have to wear leave something to be desired. They are, Pravda admits, badly cut, poorly fitted, atrociously put together, and woefully lacking in style.

So the Russian rulers are doing something about it. And who has been given the assignment? Designers? Tailors? Pollers of public opinion?

No, the anthropologists, who are busily measuring large numbers of Russians to devise new molds upon which to base future mass production.

The apparel that results from the information they dig up may well turn out to look like just that — dug up.

Prices of meat today make us feel that the ol' cow that jumped over the moon never came down.

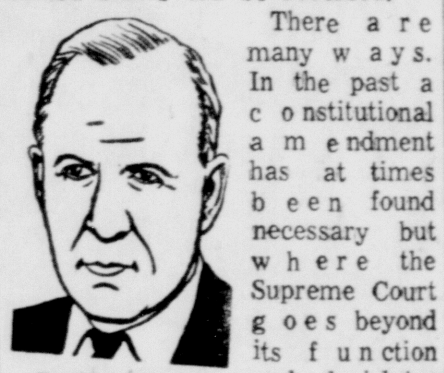

With all the different brands of rouge on the market, it's easy for a young gal to blush unseen.

Voters Hold Power

Constitutional Amendment Could Reverse Court

Many people are asking how, if public sentiment desired it, a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States can be reversed.

There are many ways. In the past a constitutional amendment has at times been found necessary but where the Supreme Court goes beyond its function and legislates or when it sets itself up as a trial court and refuses to hear evidence on both sides—as happened in the "desegregation" case of 1954—then Congress can take a hand and pass a law specifying rules for the court to follow thereafter.

In the "desegregation" decision of 1954, the Supreme Court decided the case primarily not on questions of law or interpretation of the constitution but on the basis of what it deemed psychological or sociological considerations.

Although the writings of some sociologists—one of them a prominent Communist sympathizer—were cited by the Supreme Court, no opportunity was given for cross-examination or refutation of those sociologists nor for the introduction of contrary evidence from other witnesses.

THE TRIAL COURT itself had received no evidence on the subject because the psychological issues were not raised there.

When the supreme tribunal renders a decision without hearing all the evidence or when it disregards the lack of evidence in a trial court below, there is bound to be resentment.

Congress can remedy the situation by enacting a law specifying that the Supreme Court take into consideration the evidence on both sides of a dispute.

In recent months the Supreme Court has been especially solicitous about Communists and has reversed decisions where the credibility of some witnesses had been challenged, not in the same case but in other cases.

That's going pretty far even to help the case of Communists charged with sedition. Certainly, the people of the South are entitled at least to a parity with Communists.

The right of Congress to formulate rules for the Supreme Court to follow is derived from Article 3 of the Constitution, which says:

"In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be a party, the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction."

IN ALL the other cases before mentioned, the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the Congress shall make."

This could be applied so that Congress would not let the Supreme Court have any jurisdiction whatsoever in the future in certain cases and the final decisions would be rendered by state courts in each locality.

This has happened before in American history, especially in controversies arising in the reconstruction era.

Some letters received by the writer recently have argued that Congress cannot write rules for the Supreme Court in those cases "in which a state shall be a party."

BUT IT SEEMS to have been overlooked that there never has been a clear-cut decision by the Supreme Court itself as to when a state is really a party to a lawsuit.

Thus, when citizens sue a school board, the federal courts hold that the suit is against the individuals who happen to be members of such a board, because, it is argued, if the board has exceeded its powers, its actions should not be considered "state action."

It isn't the state but the individuals "acting under color of law" who are sued.

At any rate, the Eleventh Amendment to the Constitution, adopted in 1793, specifically reserves to state courts the jurisdiction of suits between citizens and a state.

It prohibits the exercise of such jurisdiction by all federal courts as well as by the Supreme Court of the United States.

IF THE AMERICAN people, however, wish to give back to the states all rights and powers—taken from them by a Supreme Court decision—to deal with public schools and educational matters, a constitutional amendment would be the most effective method.

Such an amendment could declare that "notwithstanding Article 4 and the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments or any other provisions of this Constitution, the power to control admissions to public schools and to regulate and administer the processes of public education is one of the powers reserved to the states as provided in Article 10."

Inevitably, as questions arise concerning ways and means of preventing "enforced" association of citizens against their will, the foregoing methods will come more and more into public discussion.

'It Wonders Me'

(Editor's Note: Some of T. T.'s readers have written vacation columns for him this year. Today's essayist is a housewife.)

By ELEANOR SCHMID

It was King Solomon who wrote: "There be three things which are too wonderful for me, yea, four which I know not: The way of an eagle in the air; the way of a serpent upon a rock; the way of a ship in the midst of the sea, and the way of a man with a maid." (The movies have been trying to explain away this last wonder for many years, but without complete success.)

Our Dutch neighbors over Pennsylvania way express their wonderment far more succinctly. They simply say, . . . "It wonders me."

What wonders me is this: Why a respectable middle-aged woman driving a middle-aged automobile is an object of almost universal ridicule? No matter how carefully she drives, no matter how neatly her left-turns are executed, no matter how well she observes speed laws, she is regarded as a menace on the highways.

She may signal correctly, turn a corner discreetly. . . only to be greeted by a raucous "Hi! Grandma," or a "Hold her Steady, Old Lady."

If the Lady is unfortunate enough not to be a grandmother, but just to look like one, she becomes furious, not wishing the name without the game. She suddenly wants to throw her car into a destructive skid. . . but does she? No, she just drives along serenely, trying to look unconscious and not her age.

Seriously now . . . consider this middle-aged woman who drives well but who is spoken of as "that woman-driver."

She is always in the cartoons, but seldom in the Police Court. Seriously now, . . . consider this Once upon a time she was a young daredevil and drove what was then spoken of (with respect, mind you) as "a Gas Car."

She antedates signal lights, stop signs, turnpikes, clover leaves and two-lane traffic.

"Hold the Front Page! Charlie Just Said 'One Last Word'"

Public Relations Man

By RAYMOND MOLEY

The name of Lemuel R. Boulware has come to be intimately associated with certain constructive policies in labor and public relations in the General Electric Company.

These have to do with a frank and open information service designed to foster unity among the vast number of stockholders, management personnel, and the 280,000 employees of the company.

Boulware has also provided encouragement and direction to the many officers of the company, scattered as they are over the entire nation, to the end that they may be more useful and constructive members of the communities in which they are located.

IN THIS latter program, the fundamental lesson of active participation in community, state, and national affairs—social, economic, and political—is stressed.

The labor union of which many of the employees of the company are members, the International Union of Electrical Workers, is headed by James B. Carey, one of the most politically active among labor leaders.

Consequently, the company's encouragement to management to be more active in civic and political affairs and its effective and informative means of contact with union members have incurred attack in the labor press and in the speeches of Carey and others.

Since attacks of this kind are usually emphasized by epithets, an effort has been made to create "boulwarism" as a term of reproach.

Perhaps it is because of that sort of propaganda that an account of a change in company status by Boulware was made the subject of a badly distorted story in the New York Times.

THE INFERENCE conveyed in that story was that Boulware had suddenly been relieved of his operating responsibility and that the policies with which his name is associated have in some way been repudiated by General Electric.

The president of the company, R. J. Cordiner, immediately addressed a letter to the Times, which was published the next day.

Cordiner hastened to assert that Boulware had, in fact, been appointed as a consultant, with the retention of his title of vice president, and member of the executive office of the company.

A younger man had been appointed to take over the operating activities of the Boulware office.

THIS, said Cordiner, was in line with the policy of the company to relieve top officers somewhat before their stated year of retirement, to permit them to break in their successors and to make sure that established policies would be continued.

Boulware is now 62 and will, according to the company's rules, retire three years hence.

Cordiner said in his letter: "We are convinced that the policies under Mr. Boulware's leadership are in the mutual best interest of General Electric employees, shareholders, customers, suppliers, dealers, and the public at large. . . . The purpose of the move is to assure continuity of the policies and approaches pioneered by Mr. Boulware."

IT IS WELL that the implications of the newspaper account have thus been repudiated, for it is of great importance to industry generally and to the healthy operation of the political life of the nation that such policies be continued and perhaps be copied by other companies.

Unless management offers such leadership, there is real danger that the powerful political operations of certain unions will achieve an undue control of government in the states and in the nation.

A strong and wholesome political system is one in which all interests are taking an active part. The Associated Newspapers

Nervous Industry

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—With industrial production stuck on dead center the financial and business world warily watches today for a move one way or the other.

Blamed are the more cautious buying of consumers in the face of an abundance of goods and the drop in stock market prices which makes industry nervous.

True, retail sales run ahead of last year, thanks to high levels of employment and personal income—but due also to higher prices accounting for much of the gain in dollar volume total.

The consumers, although saving more than last year, are spending at least part of their increase in incomes in the stores and for services. They just aren't spending enough of it on industrial products to get factory output to rising again.

The Federal Reserve Board notes that what gain there was in manufacturing during August was due mostly to increased production in the auto industry, a usual thing as it stocks up before changing over to the new models.

The changeover period is starting, and auto output will be slow for awhile.

The increase in bank loans to business this month over August is about one fourth what it was last year—seen as an indication of business caution.

The nervousness of industry over these signs of a slow start for fall business is shown in the report that plans for plant expansion are being rechecked.

Many companies are completing the ambitious programs they launched sometime back and feel they have enough capacity to meet immediate demands and those of the near future.

Others still wanting to build or modernize plants are struggling with all the problems of tight money and some are putting off decisions for awhile to await developments.

The Federal Reserve Board puts industrial output for August at 144 per cent of the 1947-49 base level. This was the same as in June and July and one percentage point above the year ago level. The high point was 147 per cent, set last December.

Many in industry had been counting upon July being the low point because of vacations and other seasonal factors. They had hoped for the upturn to start in August. It may still blossom in October when the auto industry will be getting into full production on its new models.

Total retail trade last month was running 7 per cent above the year before figure. It has had a nice boost this month from the back to school buying. Its real test will come around Thanksgiving when the Christmas shopping period gets going.

The real question still remains: whether the higher prices planned for many finished products this fall can be made to stick at the retail level.

Crazy, Mixed-Up World

By THOMAS R. HENRY

The continents around the Pacific are revolving clockwise like the rim of a titanic wheel.

Either that or the floor of the sea itself is revolving while the continents stand still. Whichever way, California and New Zealand may eventually be where Japan is now. This will be a long, long time.

The speed of the wheel is only about two inches a year, as determined in California by precise Coast and Geodetic Survey measurements and similarly in New Zealand.

Evidence for this startling concept was presented International Union of Geodesy and Geophysics here by Dr. V. H. Benioff, professor of seismology at California Institute of Technology.

Certainly either ocean bed or surrounding continents are revolving but without many more measurements in such places as Communist China it is impossible to tell which, he said.

Within the rim itself, however, there are local diverse movements beside so-called "faults," great fractures in earth's crust along which Los Angeles are on opposite sides of the Great San Andreas fault which is blamed for the disastrous California earthquakes.

Eventually—however long it takes at two inches a year—the two cities will change places in latitudes and longitudes. San Francisco is moving south in accord with the general clockwise motion around the Pacific. Los Angeles is moving north at the same rate.

Three of four centuries of observations will be necessary before sense can be made of the great rotation, Dr. Benioff said.

There is no evidence of the nature of the force which drives the wheel. Over great periods, however, it becomes very significant.

Friendliness with Curry Sauce

To any list of "Ten Easy Ways to Grow Bewildered" should be added a trip through the speeches of the Indian and Yugoslav delegates in the United Nations' winning battle to keep alive its interest in the persecuted and battered Hungarians. Any two paragraphs can make you groggy.

While 60 nations courageously voted to condemn the Soviet outrage, the Indian U.N. delegate took the floor in this world court of justice and opposed such a vote on the grounds that nothing is to be gained by "condemning" a nation which flouts such a court's resolutions and that such a situation calls only for "friendly criticism!"

It is definitely detrimental to allow unfriendliness to show itself toward a U.N. member who boots the purposes of the organization all over the premises, the delegate said.

THIS TAKES the award in the "How Far Can Friendliness Be Stretched?" global contest. Most folks had assumed that straight talk, fact facing, open frowning and condemnation were natural reactions to dirty work at the crossroads.

They were more than a little dazed by a contention that it calls only for the gentle approach, the soft touch and the "as-one-friend-or-another" routine.

INDIA'S HELP is of the greatest importance to the free world and the Soviet. But it again chooses to make things tougher for our side by a palsy-walsy attitude toward Russia, doing it no harm in the showdowns.

"We have always been against the intervention in Hungary and deplore it. We in no sense approve of what happened in Hungary. But the United Nations must turn away from condemnation," said the Indian delegate. (Try that out on your zither in any "when-a-fellow-needs-a-friend" crisis, broder!)

TO THE TENS of thousands of homeless Hungarian refugees and the countless victims of persecution at home, the message would seem to be "India is with you, but only under the Book of Etiquette rules and within the meaning of the "Do Not Disturb" signs."

To the Soviet the message is "We are against you, but not so you can notice it."

ELMER TWITCHELL declared today, "It is the same as if a man invaded your home, booted you out and took over for himself, and you were told you could get no help from the cops if you weren't nice about it."

To which Mrs. Twitchell added, "I suppose if an arsonist sets fire to the kindergarten or orphan asylum I should be careful to disapprove but not condemn it."

THE PRESIDENT has named a strategy board of experts to look into the inflation threat and find a way out. The field is already so crowded with experts investigating inflation that there is an alarming collision risk. If anybody comes up with a sharp answer to inflation there is going to be wide disappointment.

Of Gov. Faubus it can be said that never has a man so little known made so many headlines.

ED DURLING, widely syndicated columnist, who died the other day, started on the New York Globe with this writer and was a member of a group of youngsters who, coming too work on that paper almost in the same week, went on to wide fame. Russell Crouse and Maxwell Anderson were on it, as was Wesley Stout, one time top man of the Saturday Evening Post, Bob Ripley, Patterson McNutt, and Raymond McCaw for years an editor on The New York Times staff.

Durling, not long out of college, was one of the most self-effacing, likable lads we ever knew. When he suddenly blossomed with the Hearst papers as a columnist it was to reveal a combination of the writing qualities of Odd McIntyre and Ripley, mixing homespun comment with informative matter.

Bride of Airman Hilderbrand Miss Carole Ann Flitcraft

The Holy Trinity Church of Youngstown was the scene of the Sunday afternoon wedding of Miss Carole Ann Flitcraft and Airman Richard Blair Hilderbrand.

The couple exchanged their nuptial vows in a double ring ceremony solemnized by Rev. John Stanila, pastor of the church, before a white altar graced with gladiol and pompons.

The bride is the daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Carl W. Flitcraft Sr. of 385 S. Union Ave.; and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Blair Hilderbrand of Canfield.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a ballerina length tulle and lace gown with a short-sleeved bolero jacket. Her veil was of fingertip length and was attached to a bandeau of rosepoint lace, sequined and pearl-embroidered. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and pompons.

Matron of honor for the bride was Mrs. John Popa Jr. of Brookfield who chose a gown of grotto blue silk Dupioni, accented with a matching miniature flower crown hat. She carried a colonial bouquet of red and white roses.

John Popa Jr. acted as best man for the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Flitcraft was wearing a royal blue pan de swal dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations. Mrs. Hilderbrand was attired in a blue silk creation with matching accessories and a corsage of variegated carnations.

The reception for 200 guests was held at the Flitcraft home following the wedding ceremony.

White gladiol, mums and pompons graced the bride's table. A three-tier wedding cake was topped with a miniature bridal couple.

Serving the guests were Mrs. Alexander Coman of Pulaski, Pa.; Mrs. John Blender of Salem and Mrs. Charles Chetian Sr. of McDonald. Registering the guests who came from Salem, Youngstown, Leetonia, Ashtabula, Pulaski, Sharon, Pa., and Cleveland was Mrs. Margaret Zalko of Salem.

When the couple departed for a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, the bride was wearing a navy blue suit with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Upon their return they will reside at 385 S. Union Ave.

Mrs. Hilderbrand attended Salem High School and is now a student at the Youngstown School of Cosmetology. Mr. Hilderbrand is in the Air Force, stationed in Tampa, Fla.

San Marino Political Battle Erupts

Anti-Communists Establish Government to Oppose Reds

SAN MARINO (AP)—Anti-Communists in this tiny republic today set up their own government to oppose the Communist regime that has ruled since the end of World War II.

The post card country was divided into two camps in a first-class political battle that erupted into fistfights Thursday night.

Today things were quiet. The Communist regime held the government palace. The Communists dissolved Parliament, where they had lost their majority because

Salem Man Awarded $5,000 in Son's Death

LISBON — A common pleas court jury late Thursday awarded $5,000 to a Salem man who filed suit in the death of his son who was fatally injured when the bed of a dump truck fell on him.

John A. Candel of Salem was awarded the sum by a jury which deliberated one and one-half hours.

Candel had asked for $20,000 from George A. Bodirnea and his son George A. Bodirnea Jr. of Lisbon and Salem respectively.

He claimed the defendants' negligence caused the death of his son, Johnnie Candel Jr., who was playing on the defendants' truck with other children when the bed fell, killing him almost instantly.

referred to a successful launching last November of a modified Army Jupiter, an intermediate range missile designed to travel 1,500 miles. On this test, the Jupiter went 3,000 miles.

In explaining the reasons behind the new manpower trimming, Wilson said, "We are so close to the debt limit that the Treasury can't even borrow the money." The legal ceiling on the national debt is 275 billion dollars.

The 2,600,000-man force now scheduled for next June 30 would compare with American troop strength of 1,460,000 when the Korean War broke out in June 1950. It would be about a million below the peak during that conflict.

pay after Oct. 1. The overall value of the package won by the Brotherhood was estimated at 14 cents an hour, including a health and welfare program that will be supported by both workers and management.

The union said a thorough discussion of conflicting clauses in the former contract led to an agreement that each side will appoint a special committee of three to consider "provisions which have become obsolete, along with the apprentice and discharge agreements, including the matter of seniority."

The committee's recommendations must be reviewed by the executive board of the IBOP and the labor committee of the USPA, the union announced.

delegates can be chosen democratically.

"This is strictly a rank-and-file move to reclaim for the union's members a little of the industrial democracy they've lost on the way," Schmidt said.

He is a man who represented Martin T. Lacey in a successful 1956 federal court challenge of a union election. In that case, the court threw out votes of a set of phantom Teamsters locals that would have upset Lacey's reelection as president of the New York area Teamsters council.

Hoffa, now the giant union's Midwest boss, supported John O'Rourke against Lacey for the New York post. It was testified in Senate racket hearings that Hoffa helped set up the fictitious locals to swing the vote to O'Rourke. The latter invoked the Fifth Amendment in refusing to testify.

Stepped Out of Office

Lacey told the Senate committee he stayed in office a year after Schmidt's successful suit, but then stepped out when Hoffa and union president Dave Beck again sought to validate the phony locals for a new election.

Hoffa currently is seeking to succeed Beck as the union's president.

The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee has filed charges of improper union conduct against both Hoffa and Beck, and in effect has called for ouster of both if the Teamsters Union is to continue as an AFL-CIO affiliate.

Beck joined Hoffa Thursday night in expressing hope the Teamsters will remain in the federation. But both said the union can continue to operate even if it is expelled.

The court suit here alleged that Hoffa, Beck and others have "furthered or tolerated a common effort or conspiracy to rig or improperly influence the convention election."

case out of the obvious ulterior motive of those who obtained the subpoena, I do not choose to comply with it."

Some legal authority said he need not appear in person, but could be represented by attorneys.

In the Little Rock school case, subpoenas were served on Maj. Gen. Sherman T. Clinger, the state Adjutant General, and Lt. Col. Marion E. Johnson, Guard commander at the school.

Faubus attorneys filed a motion to quash these subpoenas. They contended that under Arkansas law, a person active in the state militia cannot be served with any civil process.

Judge Davies, of Fargo, N.D. is a sharp-eyed, watchful man, 5 feet 11 tall. He is a stern courtroom disciplinarian.

It is believed almost certain he will grant the injunction ordering Faubus to discontinue interfering with the integration of the high school.

The Arkansas Democrat said Faubus will then appeal to the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals and will carry the fight on to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

President Eisenhower's vacation headquarters at Newport, R.I., said he was "deeply disappointed" that no voluntary progress toward school integration was made at Little Rock this week.

3 Servicemen Obtain Absentee Ballots

Absentee ballots for the Nov. 5 general election have been issued to three servicemen under Ohio's soldier voting law, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the county election board, said today.

Under the same law, ballots may be issued to civilians residing temporarily outside the United States. Most of the applicants are dependents of servicemen or U.S. employes in foreign posts.

Civilian absentee and disabled voters ballots cannot be issued until Oct. 6, O'Hanlon emphasized.

N. Waterford Man Fined on 3 Counts

Ronald Ryan, 20, of New Waterford was fined $50 and given a 15-day suspended jail sentence on each of two hit-skip charges and fined $50 for failing to aid a policeman, Mayor Dean B. Crammer said today.

Mayor Crammer said Ryan's car collided with a car driven by Dale Anderson, 38, of 693 W. State St. and struck a parked vehicle owned by Phil D. Springler, 32, of Lisbon on S. Broadway Wednesday afternoon.

Crammer said Ryan drove his car from the scene and hid it in the Hillsdale area. Later in the afternoon he reported to police his car had been stolen from the rear of 157 N. Ellsworth Ave., the mayor said.

Police took Ryan into custody Thursday afternoon and during questioning, Ryan confessed his illegal action, the mayor said.

spokesmen say Ohio Bell representatives insisted the amount of the general increase must be decided first. On wages there was some progress over the weeks of bargaining, with improvement in an Ohio Bell offer that stood at $1.50 to $4 a week three weeks ago.

The union did not announce the specific size of the weekly pay package it demands. The company has estimated the increases which its 15-month contract provides for employees in 45 cities would add five million dollars to Ohio Bell's annual payroll.

Meanwhile, Ohio Bell reported new damage to company property. Latest incident was at the Second District Police Station on Fulton Road where a main line was hack-sawed through, cutting out the station's radio and telephone communication. Business was carried on by relaying messages to the station via a radio cruiser parked beside the building.

Sooners, Winners of 40 in Row, Face Strong Pitt Team

Texas to Clash With Maryland

SMU is Underdog Against California

By The Associated Press
Oklahoma runs into a stiff test right off and Maryland, a one-time powerhouse, will try to start the long road back Saturday as the 1957 edition of the college football season opens with top games in every section of the country.

The Sooners from Norman, Okla., play Pittsburgh in the Iron City and, despite Coach Bud Wilkinson's foreboding of disaster, rate 13-point favorites to win their 41st straight game.

Pitt is strong, perhaps the strongest outfit in the East. But despite the loss of 18 letter-men, Oklahoma has no intentions of permitting a blotch on its record which includes:

1. 40 straight victories.
2. 116 straight games in which it has scored.
3. No defeats in the Big Eight since Wilkinson took over as coach in 1947.

Maryland ran into a series of bad breaks last year in Tommy Mont's first season as coach and wound up with an unimpressive 2-7-1 record. Now they must play Texas A&M in their opener in Dallas in the NCA's TV Game of the Week.

The Aggies, still smarting over being barred from the Cotton Bowl last year by the NCA, possibly are even stronger this time around. They are the logical choices for the Southwest Conference crown.

And Maryland?

Well, Mont must be wondering when he ever is going to get a break. Some observers thought the Terps might win the Atlantic Coast Conference championship. But only last Tuesday, his No. 1 fullback, Phil Perlo, broke a blood vessel in his right thigh and will be lost for at least a week.

Other important clashes send Southern Methodist against California, Texas against Georgia, Navy against Boston College and North Carolina State against North Carolina.

SMU could throw a monkey wrench into the Southwest Conference race, and this one will be a tipoff on what league foes can expect later. Cal, however, is favored.

Darrell Royal will be trying to get off to an auspicious start in his first game as field general at Texas after moving from Washington. His club will be the choice. The game is the second half of a day-night double-header in Atlanta, Kentucky and Georgia Tech play under the sun.

Navy could turn out to be another power in the East. It figures to have an easy time with BC.

The Tarheels have been installed as slight favorites over N.C.State.

Cubs Hope to Toss Roadblocks In Front of Braves, Cards

CHICAGO (AP)—The revived Chicago Cubs, eager to resume their role of spoilers, hope to throw a roadblock in front of the Milwaukee Braves' pennant-bound express this weekend.

And then, as if to even things up, the Cubs plan to use their same big pitching guns in the season's windup against the second-place Cardinals at St. Louis Sept. 27, 28 and 29.

Buffalo Bisons Hold Commanding Lead

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The Buffalo Bisons hold a commanding 2-0 lead today in the International League final playoffs as the series moved to Miami.

"We've got the jump on them now," said Bison Manager Phil Cavaretta Thursday night after the club squeezed out a 3-2 victory over the Marlins in Buffalo.

Buffalo is now only two games away from the Governors' Cup in the best-of-seven series. The play-off winner meets the cup winner in the American Assn. in the Junior World Series. Denver is leading St. Paul three games to one in their playoff.

doesn't care whether the Braves or Cardinals win the pennant as long as his Cubs beat them both in the waning days of the season. Their season record is 9 wins and 10 defeats against both teams so they could finish on top of each for the season's series.

Sheffing said he has his three top hurlers lined up to face both teams — Bob Rush (6-15), Moe Drabowsky (11-14) and Dick Drott (15-11).

The Cubs, slated to open a three-game series with Milwaukee today, are in a dangerous mood for any opponent.

They have a five-game winning streak working. Their shortstop, Ernie Banks, leading both leagues in home runs with 42, is eager to smash his 1955 record of 44.

The Cubs took two of three games in their last meeting with Milwaukee, starting the Braves on a spectacular mid-September slump since halted. The Cubs also nearly killed St. Louis' pennant chances last month, winning six straight.

However, with a four-game bulge over St. Louis, Braves' manager Fred Haney seemed to be in an optimistic mood.

"With the breaks, we can go back to Milwaukee still holding a four-game lead and I'll be satisfied with that," he commented. St. Louis plays three games at Cincinnati during the Braves series in Chicago.

Haney selected his ace southpaw, 36-year-old Warren Spahn, to pitch today's opener. Spahn will be making his third try for his 20th victory. Bob Buhl will be on the mound Saturday and Bob Trowbridge or Lew Burdette will be available Sunday.

With only nine games to play, the magic number now is six. Any combination of Milwaukee victories or St. Louis losses totaling six would give the Braves the pennant.

Robinson-Basilio Fight To Attract 40,000

NEW YORK (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson and Carmen Basilio were scheduled for final limbering up sessions at their training camps today before heading here for Monday's middleweight title bout at Yankee Stadium.

Basilio remained the favorite at about 7-5 despite a late swing toward Robinson. The International Boxing Club expects about 40,000 for the fight, meaning a gate of about $700,000.

Midwest Grid Briefs

CHICAGO (AP)—Midwest football briefs:

Michigan—Coach Bennie Oosterbaan has been stressing pass defense this week because he doesn't know what to expect from Southern California in their opening game Sept. 28. He said he has heard the Trojans, under new head coach Don Clark, will unveil a "pro type offense."

Purdue — Purdue stressed defense in scrimmage Thursday and indicated defensive workouts would be the top order of each day until the opener with Notre Dame Sept. 28.

Indiana — Coach Bob Hicks worked grimly on defense Thursday in a workout held despite showers. He said defense against Michigan State Sept. 28 is a major problem.

Ohio State—Coach Woody Hayes said he might run his squad through another scrimmage Saturday in a final effort to ready the Bucs for their opener against Texas Christian Sept. 28.

Illinois — The reserves ran through UCLA plays for the benefit of the regulars Thursday in preparation for Friday night, Sept. 27 at Los Angeles.

Northwestern — Bob McEiver, all conference halfback and co-captain, has been designated Northwestern's No. 1 man in all kicking departments — punting, extra points and kickoffs.

Iowa — The Hawkeyes went through a short scrimmage Thursday with the second team outscoring the first. Coach Forest Evashevski said the team is "doing as well as can be expected at this point in the season."

Minnesota—The Gophers, confining their workout to an afternoon session, worked at polishing plays, returning kickoffs, and at tackling and blocking assignments.

Notre Dame—Dick Prendergast, senior left end from Homewood, Ill., and Ed Sullivan, senior center from McEesport, Pa., were elected co-captains for the 1957 season Thursday.

Marquette—Only three of last year's starters—guards Mike Kirby and Bill O'Connell and left end Jim Stracka—have been named for the starting lineup for the season opener at Detroit Saturday. Coach Johnny Druze has rebuilt the team after losing every game last year.

Anthony-Moore Odds are Even

Champion to Seek Early Knockout

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Young Tony Anthony, who was just 2 years old when Archie Moore began fighting main events, battles to relieve the crafty but aging boxing master of his light heavyweight title tonight.

Odds on the fight opened in the challenger's favor, then swung to even as Moore's weight problems decreased. By ring time, the champion probably will be favored.

NBC will telecast the 15-round or less at 10 p.m., EDT.

That's largely because Anthony's ability to take a solid smash remains questionable. He failed to finish four times while campaigning as a middleweight, thus leaving some glass jaw impressions. He hasn't lost, however, since moving into the 175-pound class in late 1955.

The champion, who might be anywhere between 40 and 44, goes after a knockout early while Tony plans to stay away during the early rounds and then close against a foe he expects will be tiring.

Anthony at 22 carries his poundage on a 6-foot-1 frame. He emphasizes speed rather than slugging ability, although he stopped 23 of 35 foes since turning pro after being on Uncle Sam's 1952 Olympic squad.

Tony earned the title shot by knocking out Chuck Spieser in Detroit last April 4 but could only gain a draw against French-Canadian Yvon Durelle June 14.

The champ stands just a quarter inch under six feet but gives away two inches in reach.

Moore's crown goes on the line for the sixth time since he captured it from Joey Maxim in St. Louis Dec. 17, 1952.

Visiting the battle pit on 185 occasions, Archie has won 158 times, lost 22 and fought 5 draws. His list of knockouts totals 116—more than Jack Dempsey, Jim Jeffries and Jack Johnson combined.

Tonight he collects a $90,000 guarantee. Tony's contract calls for 33 1-3 per cent of gate proceeds over $40,000.

The White Sox won in Washington 7-3 Thursday in the only American League game scheduled. They trail the Yanks by six games. New York has eight left to play; Chicago has 10, six of them with Cleveland.

The magic number is four—meaning that any combination of New York victories and Chicago losses which adds up to four means the 1957 pennant will fly over Yankee Stadium.

The Indians, tied with Baltimore for fifth place, have fared poorly so far against Lopez's club, winning only five of 16. Even if Cleveland could sweep the three-game series opening here tonight and the three in Chicago starting a week from tonight, the season record would be a standoff 11-11.

While Cleveland plays Chicago six times in the remaining 10 days of the season, New York meets the third-place Boston Red Sox in six Yankee victories over Boston in New York tonight and Saturday, coupled with Cleveland victories over Chicago here, would end the pennant race as early as Saturday.

Torpid Wins 12th Annual Brown Jug

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—It looks as if Torpid, on wet track or day, is America's top 3-year-old pacer for 1957. He appears headed for pacing's triple crown.

The amazing son of Knight Dream-Torresdale captured the 12th annual $73,528.15 little Brown Jug in straight heats Thursday.

The flashy bay colt, owned by the Sherwood Farm of Irvington, N.J., won the first heat in the 16-horse, two-division classic on a dry track in 2:00.4.

He came back three hours later, after a heavy rain, to snatch the clincher by pulling out of a fifth-place pocket at the head of the stretch and pacing over everything in 2:03.2.

Johnny Simpson, the 38-year-old North Carolinian who has driven Torpid to fame and fortune, said his standout "was just a little bit off" despite his sterling show before 39,000 fans. Torpid picked up $27,205.41.

Now he and Torpid are going after something new — pacing's triple crown. They already have two legs—the $65,000 Cand Futurity at Yonkers and the Little Brown Jug — and they'll make their next start in the $95,000 Messenger Stake at Roosevelt Raceway in New York Oct. 23.

New York Expected to Veto Club Demands

Bums May Get Final Push Toward Los Angeles Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The Dodgers, already leaning to the West, may get their final push toward Los Angeles today.

New York's Board of Estimate was expected to inform Dodgers boss Walter O'Malley it would cost the city too much to keep the club in Brooklyn under the conditions he has outlined.

O'Malley's next step conceivably would be to accept Los Angeles' offer. He has until Sept. 30 to tell the National League his final decision.

O'Malley was scheduled for an afternoon meeting at City Hall with Mayor Robert Wagner, millionaire Nelson A. Rockefeller and Thomas Goodfellow, president of the Long Island Rail Road.

They will discuss possible modifications in Rockefeller's offer of financial assistance in helping O'Malley obtain land in downtown Brooklyn for a new ballpark.

It was learned the board after two long executive meetings was strongly opposed to Rockefeller's proposal. City Hall sources said despite Rockefeller's generosity in putting up two million dollars for the land, the city would stand to lose as much as $4 million dollars in the transaction.

The prohibitive cost would come in condemnation of the Flatbush and Atlantic Avenue site, now occupied by a station of the Long Island Rail Road, a large meat market and other structures.

In addition to buying the land for two million, Rockefeller offered to lease the site for 20 years rent free to the Dodgers, who would pay all real estate taxes and assessments. The Dodgers would build a park on the site, estimated to cost $4 or 5 million dollars, and would have the option to buy the land during the lease period for two million plus 2 1/2 per cent interest.

Further details of the plan include giving the city the stadium and the option to repurchase the land if the Dodgers did not exercise their option within the 20-year period and giving Rockefeller first choice at buying the Dodgers if they were up for sale.

O'Malley was reported fed up by what he called "vacillating action" by the board. A club spokesman said even if the board did approve the Rockefeller proposal, O'Malley might not accept it. "Even if New York was not to finally come through with a firm offer," he said, "I'm afraid it might come too late. If I had to bet, I'd bet the Dodgers will go to Los Angeles."

Line Coach Carries on Task Of Rebuilding Indiana Squad

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—New football coach Phil Dickens of Indiana hoped to be riding "side saddle" in the Big Ten this fall. But he won't even be in the conference corral.

Dickens, lured from a successful regime at the University of Wyoming, scarcely got his foot in the Hoosier stirrup before the Big Ten suspended him a year for illegal recruiting.

As a result, Dickens' line coach, Bob Hicks, was named coach-in-charge and delegated to carry through the installation of the Tennessee single wing system, with Dickens' "side saddle" variation.

Dickens, who had a four year record of 29-11-1 at Wyoming, including a perfect 10-0 mark last season, has his quarterback crouched to the right behind the center, facing the left sidelines.

The center either feeds the ball to the quarterback for pitch outs, options, roll-outs or other T tactics, or snaps it to the tailback or fullback for the off-tackle smashes, reverses, spinners and buck laterals of the single wing.

For his rebuilding, Hicks as 17 returning lettermen, including six starters from 1956 when the Hoosiers had a 1-5 Big Ten record and 3-6 over-all.

Hicks claims there is a wide open battle for almost every position.

At the vital quarterback spot, two moderately experienced players, Tom Kendrick and Tom McDonald, have an edge over the starter for the last half of the 1956 season, Steve Filipowski.

Other holdover starters from Bernie Crimmins' fifth and last Indiana team, such as end Norm Craft, tackle Mike Rabold, guard Pete Piccirillo, and halfbacks Dave Whitesell and Jim Yore also are just trying to make the team.

"Our main problem the first several years is building morale. These years is building morale and the kind of organization Dickens had at Wyoming," Hicks said. "Dickens' hand-picked staff knows exactly what he wants down, Hicks Avers.

"Our practices run like clockwork," he said. "We start on time and quit on time, good or poor drill. That way the players know they can and must move at top speed. We've melted off as much as 45 pounds off some players."

The Hoosiers will "stunt" a lot on defense, Hicks said. "We jump around on defense—some times we have a five-man line, sometimes six, seven or eight," he explained. "Last year we shifted around so much, one opponent complained to the conference commissioner about it. But it's legal."

The key ball carriers for Indiana this fall appear to be letterman Willie Jones at tailback, supported by another letterman Bill Takacs and Soph Vic Jones, and sophomore John Meegan, backed by juniors Charles Kelly and Walt Smoot at fullback.

Chicago Bears Are Favored Over Browns

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Bears are favored by seven points to win their fourth straight exhibition game when they meet the Cleveland Browns here tonight.

Coach Paul Brown, who doesn't take exhibition games too seriously, may be more interested in watching his quarterbacks perform than in winning.

A "We'll start Tommy O'Connell," said Brown, "but I'd like to have another look at all the passers."

That means Milt Plum and John Borton will get into the game, as well as Jim Haluska, who spent last season with the Browns. Haluska was traded to the Browns for draft choice.

Brown will be watching some other players too. This will be the last chance to see them in action before he cuts three players.

The squad has to be down to 35 by Tuesday. Milt Campbell, just out of the Navy, and Lew Carpenter, who is coming out of the Army, can be carried on the roster above the 35-player limit.

Paddy Driscoll, coach of the Bears, defending champions in the Western Division, says he doesn't know who will start at quarterback. Zeke Bratkowski, just out of the Air Force, and Ed Brown, probably will alternate.

Both teams have red hot rookie runners. Jim Brown, speedster from Syracuse, will start for the Browns at fullback. Newest find for the Bears is Willie Gaimore, former Florida A. and M. star, who has scored five touchdowns in the last two Chicago exhibitions.

A victory for the Browns would even their 1957 exhibition record at 3-3.

Sweep of Three-Game Series With Reds Is Must for Cards

By The Associated Press

The second-place St. Louis Cardinals are riding a "play and pray" parlay at Cincinnati before opening what should be a three-game showdown in the National League race against the first-place Milwaukee Braves Monday night.

A sweep of the three-game week end set at Cincinnati is a "must" for the Cards to guarantee they'll still be close to the Braves going into the final week.

The Braves, leading by four with a magic number of six, have won three straight, junking a slump that whittled their 8 1/2-game bulge to 2 1/2. Both the Braves and Cards have nine to play, with any combination of six Milwaukee victories and St. Louis defeats giving the Braves the flag.

The Braves play an afternoon game at Chicago today against the frisky Cubs, with southpaw Warren Spahn making a third pitch for his eighth 20-victory season.

In the American League, the pennant race is over for all practical purposes. The New York Yankees, with a six-game lead and a magic number of four, are at home to Boston tonight while

Chicago's second-place White Sox are at Cleveland.

The White Sox prolonged the inevitable in the only game scheduled Thursday with Nellie Fox and Minnie Minoso slamming consecutive home runs in a four-run 13th that defeated Washington 7-3.

The Cardinals, who have split eight games at Cincinnati but lead the Redlegs 11-8 for the season, bump into an old southpaw hex tonight with young Don Gross (6-9) starting for the Redlegs. Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell (8-10) opens for the Cardinals.

Mizell was the Cards' lone southpaw until Thursday, when they bought Bob Kuzava (8-1) from Columbus of the American Assn. and Morrie Martin (14-4) from Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League. Both have been around.

Kuzava is 34, Martin 35.

To make room for the pair, St. Louis released relief veteran Hoyt Wilhelm and sold infielder Eddie Miksis to Baltimore.

The Braves, with hard-hitting Eddie Mathews and Wes Covington ill and slugging Bob Hazle bothered by a sore shoulder, didn't figure to have an easy time with the seventh-place Cubs. The Braves, with Ernie Banks on a homer hitting binge, have won five in a row and stand 9-10 against Milwaukee.

The Cubs will throw their best, right-handers Bob Rush (6-15), Moe Drabowsky (11-14) and Dick Drott (15-11), against the Braves, who figure to pick Bob Buhl (17-7) and probably Bob Trowbridge (7-5) after Spahn (19-10) pitches the opener.

Qualities for Success

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—You may need a lofty intelligence to get rich on a television quiz show, but you don't have to be a mental giant to succeed in business.

Sweat and boldness are the pay-off qualities there. So says Erich Hirschfeld, a onetime immigrant who at 43 has become head of the world's largest camera store.

"Business is the most exciting thing in the world," said Hirschfeld, "and to succeed in it you should live it every hour you're awake. Intelligence is not so important as endless hard work — and daring."

"You must take action then—even if the action turns out to be a mistake. At least by the mistake you have learned something. You must always be willing to take a chance. You must always be daring to keep life exciting."

Hirschfeld is in a position to know. A short dark smiling man with a Napoleonic self-confidence and the effervescent temperament of an operatic tenor, he has never let his own life become commonplace.

In 1938 he bade farewell to Nazi Germany and landed here virtually penniless.

"I knew so little English. I couldn't even buy a stamp," recalled Hirschfeld, whose accent now would baffle a philologist, since it is a heady mixture of German, English, Spanish and Portuguese.

Except for a stroke of good luck he might today be a Broadway head waiter. The good luck consisted of the fact that his cousin, a restaurant owner to whom he applied for a job, couldn't give him one.

Erich went to work for a new tire firm and in a few years his ceaseless industry won him a partnership. Looking around for new worlds to conquer, he decided to export cameras to South America. He went to the late Charles G. Willoughby, an Ohio farm boy who had become the tycoon of "camera row" here, and placed a $30,000 order.

Impressed by his daring, Willoughby invited Hirschfeld into his own firm to head its export division. Erich soon worked it up to a multi-million dollar annual volume. Two months ago he was elected president of Willoughby's, which is to photograph fans who like to collect fresh jewelry.

Its clientele ranges from teenage kids to Emperor Haile Selassie, from actor Rex Harrison to the King of Siam, from Greta Garbo to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Plowing Contestants Turn Up As Much Pessimism As Soil

PEBBLES, Ohio (U)—The world's plowing matches went into the last half today with some of the contestants turning up as much pessimism as soil.

Optimism was as rare as a happy grin in a poker game. Professional football coaches could not have voiced more gloom.

Too dry, too moist, too little time, too hot. The complaints started as soon as the plowmen completed their opening rounds Tuesday on half-acre plots of stubble land.

For today's half-acre sod plowing, the competitors from 14 nations have three hours. But the time limit on the stubble is only two and a half hours.

"That's just too short," said 29-year-old John Mason of Derbyshire, England, one of the two British entrants. "I had a difficult time with my finishing furrows because I had no time to stop and measure the width left as I approached them."

And, added Mason, "that sun! I never sweated so much in my life."

W. Lawrence McMillan, 29, of Dundonald, in Northern Ireland, was another who thought the time too limited.

"You had three hours for stubble last year," he said. "This speed is spoiling the contest and lowering the standard of plowing."

Mason, McMillan and several other European competitors agreed that the soil is too dry.

Arne Braut, 22, of Horpestad, Norway, said the dryness made it hard for his plows to cover the remnants of old crops, one of the important judging points in the event.

"It's not fair to bring people of European nations to a contest in America and not water the ground when the soil is too hard," he declared. "When Sweden had the contest, it spent thousands of dollars to water the ground before the plowing."

Braut finished his plot with a half hour to spare Thursday but he said the time limit made him nervous anyway.

Another of the proponents of moist soil was Willem De Lint, 27, of Zevenberochte Hock, Holland. "My plot was sticky in places and the soil kept building up on the plows. A little more moisture would have made it slide off easily."

On the other hand, American Lawrence Goettmoeller, of Celina, Ohio, wasn't sure but what the land "could have been a little drier for good plowing."

"Generally, though, I guess I consider this soil in pretty good shape for fall plowing," he conceded.

Torbjorn Elielle, manager of the Norwegian team, said he believed none of the many complaints should be taken too seriously.

"You see," he said, "everyone would like conditions just like he has at home. Most Americans work in dry soil. Most Europeans work in moist soil."

"These complaints, they are just like you hear in any kind of contest. Everyone wants to make his excuse ahead of time."

Of the contestants, the two which appeared most carefree were two West German teammates, Max Hahn, 24, of Ulmbach, and Gert Schmidt, 19, of Woersdorf.

Unlike American Goettmoeller, who says he can't sleep on the eve of a contest, Hahn and Schmidt said they dropped off immediately and could have snoozed all day.

Not long after Thursday's contest, they hopped on one of their tractors, hoisted their plows and went scudding around the dirt drives on the grounds with a zest that made one spectator mutter, "hot-rodgers."

About the least talkative of persons connected with the contest are the judges. Officials have decided to withhold all point tallies until the sod matches are finished this afternoon.

Barber Stops Haircut To Stab, Shoot Friend

ORLANDO, Fla. (U)—A barber interrupted a haircut Thursday to stab a friend, returned to his job and then stopped again to shoot to death the man he stabbed. Sheriff Dave Starr reported.

Herman L. Allen, 33, was jailed on an open charge in the slaying of Little Wes Kersey, 24, Stillmore, Ga.

A customer, Harry F. Ryan, told officers that Allen was cutting his hair while engaged in an argument.

Allen suddenly stabbed Kersey in the chest with scissors, then forced him to sit in a chair while he continued to cut Ryan's hair, Starr said.

After a few moments Kersey bolted for the door and Allen pulled a pistol and fired twice, hitting him the second time in the back, the sheriff said.

Ryan was unharmed.

Rockefeller Foundation Spends over $30 Million

NEW YORK (U)—The Rockefeller Foundation says it spent $30,075,305 in 1956—a record amount in any single year since the foundation's inception in 1913.

Dean Rusk, president of the foundation, said Thursday income last year was $23,699,496. Last year's appropriation, he said, reflected a decision to use a portion of capital funds to support an expanded program in Latin America, Asia, the Middle East and Africa.

Since the foundation was established, Rusk said, appropriations total $565,456,662.

Rip Van Winkle Gets Hurry-Up Phone Call

DALLAS (U)—Rip Van Winkle, a drive-in grocery clerk, got a hurry-up call from his wife that the store was hovering near.

He hurried to the hospital with her, leaving Bob Stoons to tend the store.

Five minutes later Stoons got a similar call from his wife. He called in a relief man.

Mrs. Van Winkle and her new son shared a hospital room today with Mrs. Stoons and her new daughter.

Dead Tax Payer Says He Wants Refund Back

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (U)—The income tax people got this letter: "Gentlemen: You sent my refund check to my home. My mother sent it back to you, saying that I was dead. You wrote my mother and asked for a death certificate. Well, I am not dead. I am still alive and I want my refund."

Libel Trial Deliberations Enter into Fourth Day

LOS ANGELES (U)—Deliberations of the jury in the Confidential magazine criminal libel conspiracy case stretched into their fourth day today. There was no indication Thursday from the jury room that a verdict was near.

Municipal Meeting Ends

DAYTON, Ohio (U)—The sixth annual meeting of the Ohio Municipal League ended Thursday with a tour by some 300 delegates of Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near here. Guest speaker at Thursday's session was Thomas M. Graves, assistant chief of the U. S. Bureau of the Budget.

LITTLE LIZ

Guarding Your Health

By DR. EDWIN P. JORDAN
Menstruation for Teens

Today I have a number of questions from parents which are virtually impossible to answer. I can only discuss them.

One mother writes that her 15-year-old daughter, who is five feet, five inches tall, weighs 120 pounds and is well developed, has not yet begun menstruation. She does not know whether to become concerned about this.

Not all girls start their periods at the same age. Nevertheless, 15 is a little late. I should think it would be wise to have a doctor's opinion. Generally speaking, physicians do not like to interfere and prefer to let nature take its course in this respect.

Another mother writes, "I notice an intermenstrual tendency nowadays among young college people to smoke far too many cigarettes, drink too much coffee and then complain of not being able to sleep. Many of them, I am told, then turn to the use of sleeping pills. I deplore their necessity for such young people."

I suppose that young people have appeared somewhat intemperate to their elders since the dawn of history. I do not think that those who smoke too much or drink too much coffee are doing themselves any good. But frankly I have no idea that anything I or any other older person might say would have any effect. I can only join this correspondent in deploring intemperance.

Mrs. H. writes that her 10-year-old granddaughter has recently acquired the habit of cracking the joints of her fingers and wrists. She says the little girl does this almost constantly if she has nothing in her hands.

This belongs in the category of bad habits. It probably will not do the child any great harm, but it certainly will not be attractive if continued.

The granddaughter should be advised to try to fight this habit. She should be given as much to do as possible since she will find it easier to overcome it if her mind is occupied and her hands busy.

A male correspondent says he has a four-year-old nephew who will not associate with any other children of his age. The child has always had a tendency to keep

ENGAGED TO KING FAISAL
King Faisal of Iraq plans to marry 16-year-old Princess Faziela, above, according to an announcement made by the royal palace in Baghdad. The Princess, who traces her lineage to the thrones of Egypt and the Ottoman Empire, and the 22-year-old King met two years ago. A palace source said the wedding probably will not take place for a year because of her age.

close to his mother and father. A few days ago the boy was invited to a birthday party and stated the only way he would go would be if his father would accompany him. Actions of this nature are driving his parents frantic.

I do not know just how this situation should be handled. But perhaps the child's mother and father showing that they are "frantic" causes the boy to play on their sympathies and gain attention.

Perhaps less attention should be paid to the youngster and his dependence on his parents. If the child is normal, he will probably become fascinated with other children sometime before long and this difficulty may fade. Time and calmness are most likely to bring the solution.

Teachers are Offered Special Courses Here

Two extension courses for Salem teachers will be offered this year by Geneva College, beginning next week.

The courses included Bible 102, "Old Testament History," to be offered Monday evenings at 7:30 in Salem High School. The 11-week course will carry two semester hours of credit, and will be taught by Rev. John Tweed of Youngtown. The Bible course is requirement for all prospective graduates of Geneva College.

"Types of Children's Literature," English 432, will be the other course taught by Mrs. John McIsaac of Geneva College at 4:30 p.m. Tuesdays. The 16-week course will carry three semester hours of credit.

The courses are open to all teachers in the city, particularly those needing credits, according to E. S. Kerr, superintendent of schools.

England Hikes Interest Rate To 7 Per Cent

LONDON (AP)—The Bank of England Thursday raised its interest rate from 5 to 7 per cent—highest in 36 years—in an attempt to stop inflation and prevent devaluation of the pound sterling. The effect will be stern belt-tightening throughout Britain.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Peter Thorneycroft issued a statement saying "the government intends to maintain the existing exchange rate parity of $2.80 to the pound."

Virtually every financial institution in the country will now almost automatically increase interest rates correspondingly. This will mean less money will be available for ordinary spending. The government hopes thus to reduce imports, divert more industrial products into export markets, and rebuild the country's sagging gold and dollar reserves.

"The value of our money cannot be sustained unless we as a nation pursue the right policies at home," Thorneycroft said.

"It will not be possible to check the rising cost of living and to maintain the worth of sterling if we try to spend more or live better than our resources allow or our production justifies."

Thorneycroft said the government will also hold down public spending and limit private borrowing.

CRADLE OF WAVES—A giant crack in the floor of the Gulf of Alaska may spawn tidal waves such as those which struck Japan, Hawaii and other Pacific areas in recent months. The U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey pinpointed the crack (heavy black line on Newmap) which begins at Yakutat Bay, below Anchorage, Alaska, and extends 250 to 400 miles across the Gulf. It is 500 to 700 feet below the ocean floor. The fault in the floor is believed to be the birthplace of underwater earthquakes which generate tremendous sea waves (way lines on map) which sweep southward over the Pacific Ocean with the speed of jet planes. Dotted lines indicate the Aleutian Deep.

Highway Department Throws Out 11 Bids

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Highways today threw out all 11 bids on a 4.3 mile stretch of the Cincinnati-Conneaut Freeway in Delaware County.

The bids were opened Tuesday and the J. A. Jones Co. of Charlotte N.C. submitted the apparent low bid of $2,970,931. The company has an office at Berlin Heights, Ohio. The department estimate for the work was $3,397,500.

A department spokesman said the Jones bid was "unbalanced." He explained that as meaning some individual portions of the total bid appeared out of line.

The project will be up for bids again Oct. 15. It begins one mile north of U.S. 36 midway between Alum Creek and Berkshire and runs to a point one mile south of the Morrow County line.

The same day the department will open bids for a four-mile section of the freeway in Ashland County.
